January 30 and 31, 2001

NC State Friends of the Library Sponsors University Authors Days

Join the Friends of the Library at North Carolina State University on January 30 and 31, 2001, for the second annual University Authors Days—a celebration of NC State's multitalented authors. The two-day event will highlight twelve university authors with readings, presentations, book sales, and book-signing opportunities.

Participating authors represent the departments of English, communication, history, botany, engineering, political science and public administration, and philosophy. The speakers, including Friends' Author-in-Residence Kaye Gibbons and NC State's Poet-in-Residence John Balaban, are Robert M. Entman, Linda McMurry, Gail O'Brien, Raymond L. Murray, William E. Dunstan, James R. Troyer, William C. Harris, Marvin Soroos, Robert Metzger, and C. Franklin Goldsmith.

University Authors Days will be held in the Assembly Room on the second floor of the East Wing in the D. H. Hill Library. There will be a presentation every hour from 2:00 to 7:00 P.M. each day. Each day will conclude with a reception at 8:00 P.M. for all authors and members of the NC State Community. The Catalyst Bookshop, NCSU Bookstores, will handle book sales. The event is free and open to the public.

The D. H. Hill Library is located on the NC State Brickyard, near the intersection of Hillsborough and Gardner streets, across from the Wachovia Bank building. It is wheelchair accessible. For more information about the event and the schedule of speakers, please call the Friends of the Library at (919) 515-2841, or read about it on the Web at: <http://www.lib.ncsu.edu/administration/fo/authoradays.html>.
