

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

FOR INFORMATION:

Suzanne Jacovec
Box 7111
North Carolina State University Libraries
Raleigh, NC 27695-7111
(919) 513-4433

February 28, 2002

Anthony Grooms To Read from His Acclaimed Novel *Bombingham

Anthony Grooms, author of the critically acclaimed novel Bombingham, will read from his work this month at the African American Cultural Center on the NC State University campus. His novel received the 1996 Lillian Smith Prize for Fiction.

The event will be held February 28, 2002, at 7:30 P.M. in the African American Cultural Center's Multipurpose Room in the Witherspoon Student Center. The event is free and open to the public. It is sponsored by the Friends of the Library of North Carolina State University, the African American Cultural Center, and Quail Ridge Books.

Grooms is a writer, teacher, and arts administrator who has received critical acclaim for his work. His books include Ice Poems and Trouble

No More. He is currently a professor of creative writing at Kennesaw State University in Georgia.

For more information about the event or for directions, please call the Friends of the Library, Monday through Friday, between 8:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M., at (919) 515-2841.

xxx