NCSU Librarians Receive Samuel Lazerow Fellowship

Karen M. Letarte and Jacqueline P. Samples, both Cataloging Department librarians at North Carolina State University, are the joint recipients of the 2004 Samuel Lazerow Fellowship, which includes an award of $1,000 to support travel or writing. The fellowship, sponsored by Thomson Scientific and presented annually by the Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL), fosters advances in collection development and technical services. In their fellowship application, Letarte and Samples presented a research proposal focused on the Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records (FRBR). Their proposal was entitled "Looking at FRBR Through Users' Eyes: Toward Improved Catalog Displays for Electronic Serials."

"While this important project will contribute to the emerging study of Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records . . . it also has a broader scope that will lead to improved library service to users," said Lazerow Fellowship committee chair George Abbott.

The award will be presented at the ACRL President's Program on June 28, 2004, during the American Library Association Annual Conference in Orlando, Florida.

The NCSU Libraries, with more than 3.1 million volumes, nearly 52,000 print and electronic serials, and hundreds of databases, offers leading-edge resources and services from its central library, the D. H. Hill Library, and four branch libraries. For full information about the NCSU Libraries, visit www.lib.ncsu.edu.
