Hundreds of Requested Journals Purchased

Using tuition-increase monies, the NCSU Libraries has purchased approximately 900 new journal subscriptions. These subscriptions come from lists submitted by faculty and graduate students in every academic department. The titles include both new journals and reinstatements of subscriptions canceled during the past ten years of flat state-appropriated budgets and double-digit price inflation for academic journals. The library is seeking back volumes from out-of-print sources for many reinstated titles to fill gaps in the collection.

In November 1996 the Collection Management Department contacted all full-time faculty members and Graduate Student Association presidents in all academic departments to request that they nominate journals for purchase. Approximately 40 percent of those contacted responded, returning nominations for almost 1,500 unique titles. Of these 1,500 titles, 500 were nominated by respondents in more than one department.

The criteria to select a journal title included multiple requests for that title, absence of the title in the Duke and UNC-Chapel Hill collections, previous interlibrary loan demand for the title, whether the title is indexed, cost of the subscription, need to address deficiencies in programs expanded or established in the past ten-year period of cancellations, and some deficiencies in the journal collection used by large numbers of undergraduate students.

Issues will begin arriving between now and early 1998, depending on the subscription cycles of each journal. Look for current issues of the new titles in the NCSU Libraries' Periodicals Reading Room on the first floor, Erdahl-Cloyd Wing, in the D. H. Hill Library and on branch libraries' new journal shelves. A complete list of the added titles is listed below in alphabetical order

WHAT'S NEXT?

Late in the 1997 fall semester, a call will go out via campus mail and through departmental library representatives to faculty and graduate students for the second round of nominations. If the list below lacks a title you would like to see in the NCSU Libraries, please nominate the title(s) for purchase at that time.

If you have questions about new titles or the upcoming nomination process, please call John Abbott (Collection Management Department) at ext. 5-3833 or send an e-mail message to john_abbott@ncsu.edu.

Lexis/Nexis Training Fall 1997

The NCSU Libraries offers Lexis/Nexis, an online information retrieval service that includes news, corporate, financial, industry, intellectual property, regulatory, and governmental resources. NC State students, faculty, and staff may access a variety of full-text resources to complete classroom assignments.

The Libraries' Research and Information Services Department is offering a series of introductory Lexis/Nexis training sessions to the entire university community. These sessions are designed for the beginner, with an emphasis on the organization of the service, navigation, and basic search commands. To register for a session, send an e-mail message to:

leeann_bridges-mchattie@ncsu.edu

Indicate the course you wish to attend and include the section number listed below. You will receive confirmation of your registration status. If you do not have access to e-mail, call Leeann Bridges-McHattie at ext. 5-2936 to register. For more information about Lexis/Nexis, call ext. 5-2935.

INTRODUCTION TO LEXIS/NEXIS

Section 5.	November 17	9:00 A.M. to 10:30 A.M.

The contributors to this issue are John Abbott (Collection Management); Leeann Bridges-McHattie and Mary Ellen Spencer (Research & Information Services); Charles Gilreath (Public Services).

NCSU Libraries Electronic Information Classes

Fall 1997

All electronic information classes will be held in the Information Technologies Teaching Center's (ITTC) PC Lab, located on the second floor, East Wing, of the D. H. Hill Library. Class size is limited to the first thirty people who register. To register, call Leeann Bridges-McHattie (Research and Information Services) at ext. 5-2936, or send an e-mail registration request to leeann_bridges-mchattie@ncsu.edu.
